5 Ways to spend Labor Day weekend in Boston

Have some fun with your time off.

SARAH SWEENEY

The students are back, daylight is diminishing and soon we'll all be donning waterproof boots and trudging through winter. But you don't have to go gentle into that good night just yet. Labor Day offers one last chance to live it up, have a summer fling or just get outdoors before it's too late. Here are some ideas to set you off on your own freedom trail.

Lady Gaga at Fenway Park

Lady Gaga swings by Fenway on the Boston leg of her tour for her latest album "Joanne" co-produced alongside Mark Ronson. If recent set lists are any indication, fans will also be treated to Gaga classics like "Alejandro" and "Bad Romance." Tickets to the Sept. 2 show are still available and depending on your level of devotion, run from around $86 to $251 for turf seating. Sept. 1-2, Fenway Park,

4 Yawkey Way, mlb.com/redsox/tickets/special-events/lady-gaga

Have an endless summer at Loco

Hawaii meets Mexico meets Southie? Only at Loco Taqueria, where Labor Day brunch is a luau-themed fiesta, complete with live music. Don your Hawaiian prints, grab your Moondoggie and order a watermelon-pineapple punchbowl, served in a hollowed watermelon, or savor a menu of tropical brunch specials and ceviches in addition to Loco's brunch classics like fried chicken and jalapeno-cornbread waffles and breakfast carnitas tacos.

Sept. 4, 412 W. Broadway, locosouthboston.com

Up on the roof

Watch the summer sun rise and fall from the Rooftop@Revere Bar. Open from 11 a.m. to midnight on Labor Day, the bar will host games like human-sized Jenga and cornhole. White Claw hard seltzers will set you back $5 and $13 for the frozé du jour. Sept. 4, Revere Hotel, 200 Stuart St., reverehotel.com

Head to the brewery Dorchester Brewing Co., located right on Mass. Ave. just celebrated its one-year anniversary.

On Sunday the brewery welcomes the Porch Food Truck, which offers everything from North Carolina-style pulled pork to Chesapeake crab cake sandwiches and fried bologna sandwiches. The brewery has 20 beers on tap, including smaller craft labels like

Omnipollo, Evil Twin and Radiant Pig. Sept. 3, 1-6 p.m., 1250 Massachusetts Ave., dorchesterbrewing.com

Free museum admission

Visit the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum and the ICA for free on Labor Day. Admission to the Gardner Museum starts at 11 a.m. and ends at 4 p.m. and is first come, first served, so make sure to get there early. Sept. 4, 25 Evans Way, gardnermuseum.org; 25 Harbor Shore Drive, icaboston.org
